P.S.C. Raises Phone Rates

New York, June 3 (AP)—An interim increase of eight per cent on telephone bills and approximately 10 per cent on intra-state toll charges have been granted the New York Telephone Company by a Public Service Commission decision today.

The increase is estimated to produce $26,000,000 additional revenue before taxes as against a requested interim increase of $31,000,000.

The increase will become effective for the period until December 31 next as soon as the company files a tariff setting forth the new schedule.

The increase was allowed after five months of investigation of the company's petition for higher rates. The investigation and hearings on the question of permanent rates will be resumed on June 20.

In the original petition filed last November, the company asked for a temporary increase of ten per cent for local service and a permanent increase generally of 15 per cent for a total additional revenue of $49,000,000 annually.

During hearings on the petition the company filed a supplemental application for an increase of approximately $5,800,000 on intra-state rates.

Calls made from telephone booths as well as attended public telephones are not affected. The company did not ask for an increase in coin box rates since the boxes are not designed to take any but five cent coins.

An increase to 10 cents for such calls, it was testified by the company, would add another $18,000,000 to the company's annual revenue.

On this subject the commission stressed the importance of this source of revenue and indicated that in a determination of final rates, the possibility of increasing charges for public telephone service will receive careful attention to determine whether such telephone users are bearing their fair share of the cost.

The new rates will mean a sur-

A. P. Giannini III Month With Cold; Started Bank in 1904

AMADEO P. GIANNINI
San Mateo, Calif., June 3 (AP)—Amadeo Peter Giannini, boy prodigy who fought his way up to become the world's biggest banker died today of a heart ailment. He was 79, and had been ill with a cold for a month.

The veteran of a thousand feuds, the founder of the vast Bank of America once told interviewers "Shucks, I'm just a roughneck. I left school and went to work when I was 12. Why, I was brought up one the waterfront."

But he fought on the side of the solid little people of the expanding west coast. And by 1946, his Bank of America was the world's biggest, with assets topping $5,765,000,000. It had grown to 500 branches, most of them in California.

The banking chain was started, he had explained, because he "got so damn mad" at directors of the little bank in which he first was active. They didn't favor some of his go-getter policies, so he started a bank of his own. It was the Bank of Italy, established Oct. 17, 1904.

"They used to say I was undisciplined," he recalled. "Old fogies! I say if you want something, you may as well go after it."

It was a policy he had followed since he launched his business career as a boy peddler—in the produce business with his stepfather.

The big, solid, heavy-voiced son of Italian immigrants wasn't all business, however. He always said his "best bargain" was Clorinda Cuno. He married her when he was 22. In 1902, she died in 1941.

The big bluff "A.P." as he was called always identified himself with the "little fellow." He often told friends he had never been a millionaire and "I never want to be one."

Giannini's parents, Luigi and Virginia Giannini, came from Genoa, Italy to California not many years after the state began farming in the San Jose area. A.P. was only seven years old when his father died, and subsequently his mother married a commission merchant, Lorenzo Scutena.

Scutena gave the boy a start in the vegetable business. A.P. quickly built up the largest commission house in California, but he went into banking when his father-in-law, a banker, died and left him a seat on the board of a San Francisco bank.

Lost Atom Bottle Is Recovered

Search Made, However, for Some Uranium Which Was Contained Therein

Costs Are Probed Group Would Know Why Secret Unit Is to Cost 21 Millions

Washington, June 3 (AP)—A missing atomic bottle has been found but the search goes on for some of the uranium-235 which was in it.

Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.) made that announcement yesterday as his Senate-Senate Atomic Energy Committee adjourned, probably until Monday, its hearings into charges of "incredible mismanagement" made against David E. Lillenthal by Senator Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa).

Lillenthal heads the Atomic Energy Commission, whose Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago missed the bottle of fissionable material last February. It contained an ounce of U-235, seven-eighths of which has now been recovered.

McMahon said the commission's General Manager Carroll Wilson had reported to the committee that the missing bottle was dug out of a large steel box of waste material in the Argonne laboratory's radio-active "burial ground."

The uranium apparently had been spilled from the bottle, after which the container was discarded. It was all due to "carelessness and negligence," McMahon said.

Besides pressing its inquiry into the matter of the still-missing eighth-ounce of U-235, he said, the joint committee is branching out in its investigation of the commission's failure to prevent construction of a secret atomic installation is costing three times the original $7,000,000 estimate.

The installation, located at Hanford, Wash., is being built by the General Electric Corp.

The congressional committee, at the instigation of Hickenlooper, its former chairman, is conducting a broadscale probe of the Atomic Commission's management under Lillenthal. Hickenlooper has demanded Lillenthal's firing.

The second face-to-face meeting between the two yesterday produced bitter, angry questioning and testimony as the Iowa senator sought to demonstrate that the commission had granted emergency security clearance to far too many of its employees.

Lillenthal flatly insisted that speedy clearance had been necessary in a number of cases to keep the nation's atomic program operating efficiently—a position which Hickenlooper angrily refused to accept.

The committee followed this up with a lengthy closed-door session with the five atomic commissioners and members of their staff. It was then that Wilson reported recovery of the uranium bottle.

Brooklyn Youth Renounces U.S.

Ex-Soldier Says, He Fell in Love With Germany, Way of Living

Frankfurt, Germany, June 3 (AP)—A Brooklyn-born youth who "fell in love with Germany," says he intends to renounce his American citizenship and become a German.

He identified himself yesterday as Daniel F. McCarthy, Jr., of New Hyde Park, Long Island, N. Y., son of a New York stockbroker who died in 1947.

McCarthy said "no girl was involved in his decision."

"I fell in love with Germany," he told reporters.

"I haven't fallen in love with a German girl—but I may."

The blond, blue-eyed youth said he became interested in Germany here in 1945 as a United States soldier.

"I like the German way of life," McCarthy said.

Reporters asked what particularly he liked about the German way.

"I think the Germans have high principles," he replied. "They are diligent, hard-working, hospitable and generous—at least I have found them so. Other people might disagree. The Germans enjoy the simplest things of life. They enjoy music. They have a very fine family life."

McCarthy was asked whether he found these qualities lacking in the United States.

"Most of my experience has been in the army," he replied.

McCarthy returned to the United States after his army service. He said when he came back into Germany he walked up to French zone border officials and told them he was a German.

They locked him up for six

Gates Is Held Found in Contempt

New York, June 3 (AP)—A Communist conspiracy trial defendant was found in contempt of court today and ordered held in jail 30 days unless he purges himself of contempt.

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina ordered John W. Gates jailed after the 35-year-old editor of the Communist Daily Worker had refused to say who helped him prepare a Communist party publication.

The action immediately brought the other 10 defendants to their feet in protest.

The judge then promptly ordered two of them, Henry Winston and Gus Hall, also held in jail. All defendants have been free under $10,000 bail previously.

The party leaders on trial claim that the government has no right to question them about their comrades.

Chambers Declares He Was Loyal to Reds Prior to '38

Cross-Examiner Assails Testimony of Former Courier for Spy Ring

New York, June 3 (AP)—Whittaker Chambers, the government's key witness in the perjury trial of Alger Hiss, testified today that he had been loyal to the Communist party before he broke with it in 1938.

Chambers, who has sworn that Hiss, one-time high State Department official turned over secret government papers to him, said under cross-examination that while a Communist he believed in "overthrowing the government at the opportune time by any and all means."

A confessed ex-courier for a Communist spy ring, Chambers was cross-examined by Lloyd Paul Stryker, Hiss' chief counsel. The perjury indictment, returned by a special spy-hunting grand jury, accused Hiss of lying when he denied feeding State Department papers to Chambers for transmission to a Red spy ring.

As the trial's fourth day began before Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman, and a jury of 12 men and two women, Chambers repeated previous statements in which he said he broke with the Communist party in 1938.

Stryker continued his tactics of yesterday, hammering at Chambers' character in an obvious plan to discredit his testimony as such as possible.

"I asked Chambers whether it was true that every Communist party member was a 'potential spy, a saboteur and actually an enemy to our system of government,'" Stryker probed again.

"Yes, it is," Chambers replied.

After Chambers admitted he had subscribed to and been loyal to Communist principles, Stryker asked him if it was not a fact that those joining the party had to obey its orders and "may have to lie, steal, rob or go out into the street and fight."

"That is right," was the answer. The defense began its rapid-fire questioning yesterday after the stocky, soft-spoken Chambers unfolded in Federal Court a story of a pre-war Soviet spy ring which he said was fed government secrets by Hiss.

The 44-year-old Hiss, who sat calmly beside his wife, Priscilla, during Chambers' testimony, is accused of lying when he denied before a federal grand jury that he ever gave confidential documents to Chambers.

Refuting Chambers' reliability, Defense Counsel Lloyd Paul Stryker drew from him the admission that he committed perjury in 1937 when he took an oath of office.

Two Construction Changes Occur on Greenkill Avenue

Work has begun on the erection of a one-story concrete block building at 59-61 Greenkill avenue for the use of the Kingston News Service.

According to Joseph Levine, proprietor, the present News Service building at 21 Railroad avenue will be demolished by the state to make way for a connecting street called for by the plans for the Broadway railroad crossing elimination.

Notice to vacate the Railroad avenue building has already been received, Levine said, and the Kingston News Service will move to the Greenkill avenue location as soon as the new building can be completed.

The new building will be of concrete block construction with brick veneer. An attractive front is planned and the building will be somewhat similar to the present News Service building.

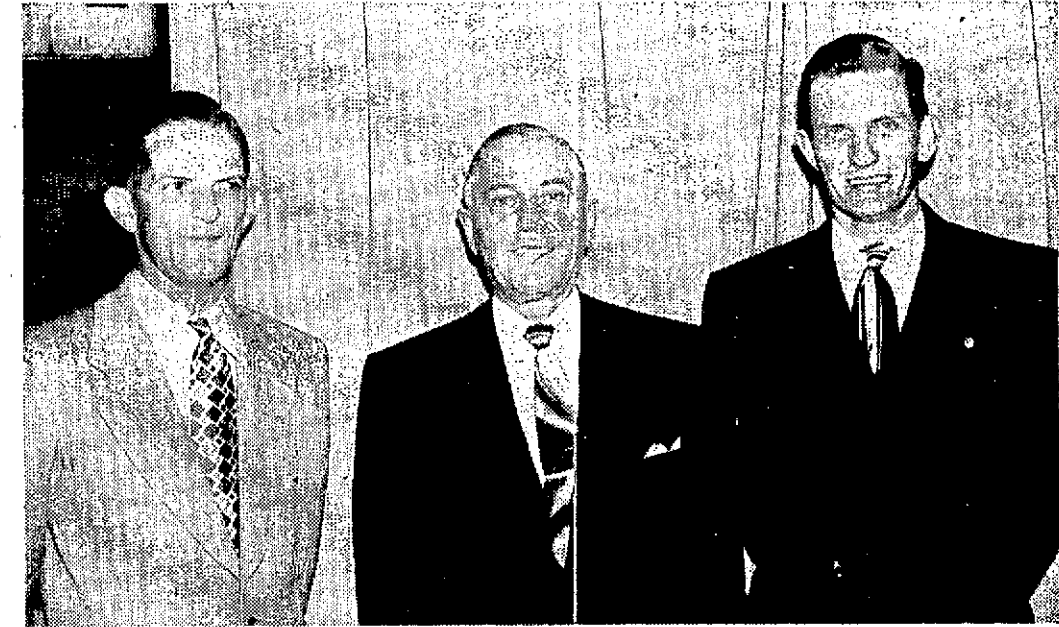

An addition to the factory of the Kingston Manufacturing Corporation at 100 Greenkill avenue is being erected by Thomas Kennedy and Son, contractors.

The addition of concrete block construction, will cost an estimated $24,000, according to the building permit application filed with the Kingston Fire Department. It will measure 90 by 56 feet and will be one-story high, with a partial basement.

Walter J. Prass of Poughkeepsie is the architect. The building permit was granted last month to The Displays, Inc., of which the Kingston Manufacturing Corporation is a subsidiary.

14 Slug Way Out Of 'No Escape' Jail

West Virginia Has Biggest Mass Break in 35 Year Period

Moundsville, W. Va., June 3 (AP)—Fourteen prisoners sawed and slugged their way out of the supposedly "escape proof" south hall of the state penitentiary here today.

It was West Virginia's biggest mass prison break in at least 35 years.

Six of the escapees were serving life terms, and six of them were in solitary confinement.

The escaping prisoners left behind them a bleeding guard who had slugged and tossed into one of the vacated cells. He was identified as Jackie James, prominent as a baseball umpire in the Wheeling area.

The guard's station telephone was taken off its hook. When he failed to report at 2 a. m. (E.S.T.) and the central desk found his line continued busy, an investigation was started.

Warden Orel J. Skeen said the break was discovered within a few minutes and that roadblocks were being set up within 30 minutes after the men crawled through a window.

A skiff moored to the West Virginia bank of the Ohio river was stolen, giving rise to the belief the escapees may have crossed into Ohio.

State police also received reports of a stolen automobile at suburban Glendale. It was found abandoned in Wheeling, 10 miles away, but near the spot another parked car had been stolen, leading officials to believe the men had scattered.

The section from which the men escaped contains the death house and the solitary, supposedly escape-proof cells.

A 15th cell was sawed or jim-

Moscow Church Keys Are Seized

Washington, June 3 (AP)—State Department officials said today Russia may be aiming to break all contacts between the Vatican and Moscow's last "free" Roman Catholic Church.

Official reports received here from the Russian capital say Soviet authorities have seized the keys of the church of St. Louis Francaise from the resident priest and now exercise physical control of the property.

Speculation that the Soviet action may be intended to remove the church from Papal authority is bolstered by the continuing failure of Russian officials to grant an entry permit to an American priest assigned to duty at the church.

He has had his request for such a permit on file since last February.

Ruth Andrus Is Trustee of Bard

Is Chief of Vital Bureau in State Education Department

Annandale-on-Hudson, June 3—Dr. Ruth Andrus, chief of the Child Development and Parent Education Bureau of the New York State Education Department has been elected a member of the Board of Trustees of Bard College.

Milford Baker, vice-chairman of the board, announced today.

Dr. Andrus, who resides in Albany, is also a trustee of Russell Sage College and of the Little Red School House in New York. She has been a member of the governing board of the National Council on Parent Education and of the advisory board of the Institute of Education of Vassar College. She is a past president of the National Association for Nursery Education and was a member of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection in 1931-32.

A graduate of Vassar College, Dr. Andrus received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Columbia University in 1924 after having taught Latin in various preparatory schools, and serving for eight years as Academic Dean and Dean of Women at Kentucky College for Women. After receiving her doctorate she became director of the Child Guidance Clinic, Monmouth county (New Jersey) Organization for Social Service from 1924 to 1926. She then became associated with Teachers College, Columbia University, until 1928 when she assumed her present position with the New York State Education Department.

423 Persons Attend; Fearon, Dykstra, Others Laud Man, Abilities

One of the largest dinner gatherings ever assembled in a single room in Ulster county met Thursday evening at Williams Lake Hotel, Rosendale, at the testimonial dinner in honor of Senator Arthur H. Wicks, temporary president and majority leader of the State Senate.

Under the auspices of the Republican Central Committee of Ulster County, 423 residents of the county and guests met to pay honor to a man, who now as majority leader of the Senate, is looked upon as the outstanding man in the state and a leading contender for the Republican nomination for governor as Governor Thomas E. Dewey's successor.

Among those who paid a high tribute to the ability of Senator Wicks was the Hon. George R. Fearon of Syracuse, who has also held the position of Senate majority leader and was a candidate for governor a few years ago. Assemblyman John Wadlin of Highland, who has worked side by side with Senator Wicks in the legislature for several years, paid his tribute to the senator and the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church of this city, of which Senator Wicks is a member, likened Senator Wicks to Abraham Lincoln as "intellectually honest" and a man who seeks to serve his fellowmen, a man who "knows us first not as votes, but first as people."

Selection Made in 1926
Former District Attorney N. LeVan Haver, who served as Senator Wicks' first clerk back in 1927 while still a law student, acted as toastmaster and referred to the selection of Arthur H. Wicks, as Republican candidate for the State Senate in 1926 by the late Philip Elling, Ulster county chairman, and the late John W. Eckert who was then secretary of the county committee.

Haver said that this selection of "the Clinton avenue laundryman" as Republican candidate for the Senate at that time had been a wise move on the part of Elling and Eckert but he doubted if even they had any idea their candidate would ever reach the high position he now holds.

Mr. Haver said he regretted that these two men who had started Senator Wicks on his long and highly successful political career back in 1926, could not be here now to witness the events of the evening.

The Rev. John J. Brennan, assistant pastor of St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, asked the invocation and Raymond Howe, Jr., sang the National Anthem, accompanied by Howard Houghtaling.

During the evening Onni Laihanen, champion accordionist of Finland, entertained with selections on his accordion, playing numerous old time tunes as well as some of the latest popular numbers.

On behalf of the Republican County Committee, Haver welcomed

Highmount Realty Is At Premium

Thousand-Room Hotel May Be Constructed; Realtor Has Plans for Development

Will Let Out Bids

State Department Will Seek Contracts for Construction

With the 1952 winter Olympiad in mind, a well-known New York sportsman is reported to be interested in the promotion and construction of an open theatre and sports arena seating 10,000 in the vicinity of Belle Ayre ski run.

Since the approval and appropriation of funds for the development of the Belle Ayre State Park at Highmount in the Catskills, a large number of speculators have been combing the area for investments. Herman T. Lukow, Highmount real estate broker announces.

Hotel Is Planned
Another New Jersey and Miami hotel-chain operator is nursing the idea of building a 1,000 room Alpine style hotel in the area, Lukow reports. Offers have been made by this party to owners of a large Highmount estate.

Lukow, who plans to take an active part in the promotion, already has purchased a 50-acre tract opposite the Grand Hotel, formerly owned by Samuel Coykendall. He expects to divide the tract of land into one acre sites for three and four room ranch-type buildings, a club house and an open restaurant.

Another industrial site at the Highmount railroad station, including about three acres, is expected to be cleared for immediate construction work.

To Survey Accommodations
Ralph Dalton, president of the Central Catskills Association, also is expected to begin operations soon to determine the possible accommodations for the 1,000 skiers who would flock to the area for the 1952 Olympiad. Accommodations for the ski visitors must be obtainable in the Arena-Roxbury to Mt. Tremper area.

Another indication of the determined stand to obtain the 1952 sports event for the area is the conservation department's announcement that bids for construction contracts will soon be let out in order to be ready for an early fall opening.

Lukow was recently elected president of the Highmount Chamber of Commerce. Others named were Albert Trauring, vice-president; Sol Dick, secretary; and Claire Haynes, treasurer.

Snag Is Reported

George Objects to Pact Draft Now in Hands of Committee

Washington, June 3 (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, trying for unanimous approval of a report on the Atlantic Pact, was snagged today by one member's objections.

Senator George (D.-Ga.) said yesterday he could not support the report now in the committee's hands. Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) had called it "an able and splendid report."

"The group will meet again Monday to settle the conflict, so the report can be sent to the Senate along with the pact."

The preliminary draft was prepared by the committee staff and undoubtedly will undergo some change before it reaches its final form.

George told a reporter he wants the report to be "very specific" on what authority the President will have to send troops into combat.

He added he wants it spelled out that the President cannot use armed forces to aid any pact nation without approval of Congress.

Memorial Day Observance by Phoenicia Post

Phoenicia Post, 950, American Legion conducted the annual Memorial Day services at the World War I monument at the Shandaken Town Hall. The assembly took place at the railroad station and with the color guard leading, the firing squad, the marine, navy and soldier veterans followed by the American Legion Auxiliary proceeded to the hall.

The Post Chaplain Earl Bennett gave the invocation after which the Rev. J. D. Sheehan, M.S., assistant at Saint Francis de Sales Catholic Church, delivered the address.

Following the address the commander, Comrade Hannigan raised the flag to full mast and a salute to the dead was fired by the firing squad.

Following this a Gold Star Mother, Mrs. Louis Hallenbeck, placed a wreath on the monument in memory of all who had given their lives for their country. Taps were then sounded and a pledge of allegiance to the flag was given. The exercises were concluded by Benediction pronounced by the Rev. Milton B. Davis, the new minister at the Phoenicia Baptist Church.

Many of these assembled for the ceremonies were visitors. Father Sheehan spoke in part as follows:

And for the mouths of these dead soldiers, the survivors of our country, I speak today. Yes it will happen again unless we shake off our complacency and lethargy in the gathering storm from Soviet Russia. Though once we defeated rank imperialism, and once again we defeated Socialist Nazism, let us not be too confident against Russian Communism. I am not an alarmist when I say this. It is the opinion of competent military and governmental authority as expressed in Major Elliott's recent book, "If Russia Strikes" which declares 1949 as the year of decision and that at the latest by 1952 the hand of Russia shall be forced to strike if she is to survive. Let us not delude ourselves with vain hopes for peace with a government whose first principle is world revolution and world domination with a system of philosophy which is atheistic, anti-God and totalitarian, a system of Godless government run by men of no morals and no respect for the dignity of man.

There can be no peace with the Communism that has restored slavery on a gigantic scale, Communism which is built on trickery, deceit and terror; Communism which poisons the minds of youth from the age of reason onward. A Communism that owes its loyalty to Soviet Russia, seeking only a Russian Empire with Moscow as its capital. There can be no peace, I repeat, with a Communism that will overthrow any government by any means possible, Communism which destroys home and family, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of assembly, freedom of worship and freedom itself. And let us not deceive ourselves into thinking that we have the answer in the atom bomb. Our only answer can be in submission to God and our best and most dependable weapon is Prayer.

And once again the dead lips of our fallen soldiers urge us to look to our youth as the hope of our nation. As our boys went into action on all the battlefronts of the world, we hailed them amid flag waving and martial ovation as the saviors of the world. And now we look upon our youth as the problem of our nation subject only for criticism. Let us realize today that our youth are suffering for the sins of their fathers and our debt to the dead must be paid by love, devotion and unceasing effort in the cause of the youth of this community and the youth of the nation.

And a final message from all our departed urges us of all nationalities, of all races and creeds to unite, as it is in all our hearts to do, under one common banner that waves above us, the flag of our country that speaks to us of our freedoms and tells us that as Americans, fearing God according to the dictates of our conscience, we must be one in the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man, Catholic, Protestant and Jew, white or colored, beseeching God as our common Father to grant us peace. And only then can we rest these glorious heroes we honor today who have given to us "the last full measure of devotion." May their souls and the souls of the faithful departed through the mercy of God rest in peace. Amen.

Changes Mind in Air

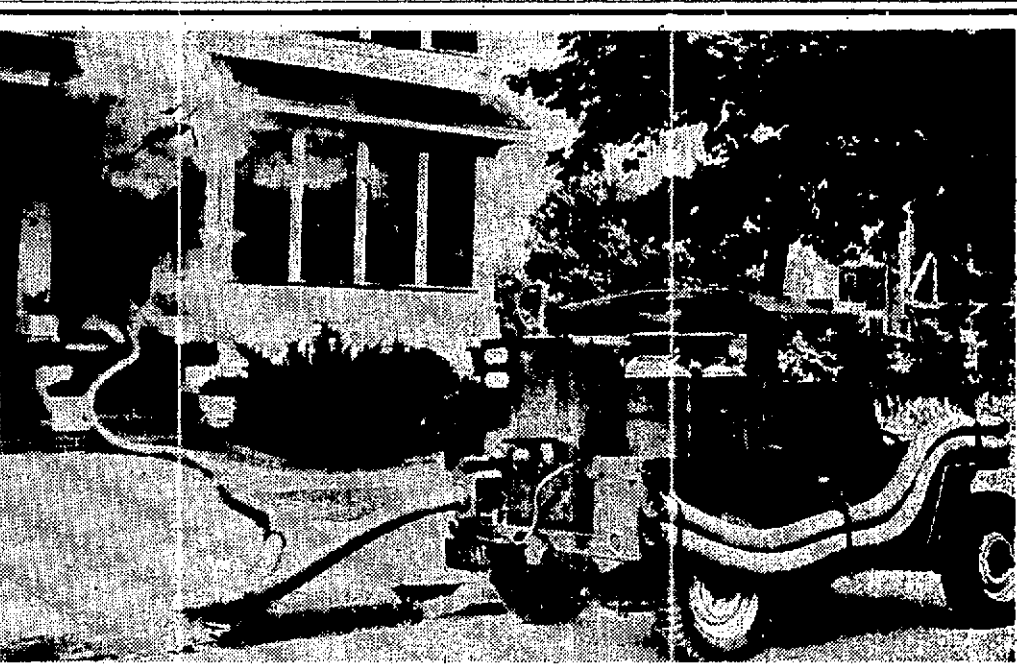

Melbourne (AP)—Sidney Charles Dyer, tired of life, dived from his Melbourne hotel window, 40 feet above the street. In the air he made a snap decision to live some more. Today he is still alive. Dyer told police that when he felt himself falling through space, he wanted to keep on living. "I twisted in air and back-somersaulted on to a shop veranda next to the hotel," he said. The fall knocked him unconscious, but he suffered only bruises. Dyer, 35, is an artist.

Barbieri, president of Steelworkers 2054, said the union had not called a slowdown, but added: "There might have been a drop in production because the men were 'naturally confused by working without a contract.'"

Lonely Hearts Duo Must Stand Trial, Appeals Court Says

Albany, N. Y., June 3 (AP)—A couple accused in the "lonely hearts" slaying of two widows must stand trial in New York state where the maximum penalty is death.

The Court of Appeals refused yesterday to review a rejected bid by which the couple sought to avoid trial in New York and presumably face charges in Michigan, which has no death penalty.

Raymond Fernandez, 31, and Mrs. Martha Beck, 29, are scheduled to go on trial Monday in the Bronx on first degree murder charges. The state's highest court also refused to grant a stay of trial.

The couple are accused of killing Mrs. Janet Fay, 60, an Albany widow, at Valley Stream, L. I., last Jan. 5.

The Court of Appeals denied them permission to appeal the refusal of lower courts to grant writs of habeas corpus. If granted, the writs would have freed them of charges in New York and presumably resulted in their return to Michigan.

They were arrested there last March in connection with the slaying of another widow, Mrs. Delphine Downing, 29, of Port Byron, and her 21-month-old daughter, Rainelle.

Fernandez and Mrs. Beck were extradited to New York under an agreement by the governors that the couple would be returned to Michigan for trial if they were not convicted in this state.

Their counsel contended the extradition agreement violated the couple's constitutional rights. Convictions Upheld

The Court of Appeals also upheld unanimously the misdemeanor convictions of seven New York city residents for "making ex-sive charges in connection with rental agreements."

Among them was Meyer Greenwald, an attorney who formerly was supervisor of renting and tenant selection at the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's Stuyvesant town, Peter Cooper Village and Parkchester developments.

He was convicted on 10 counts of demanding and receiving gratuities totaling $24,000 for procuring leases for 10 doctors. He received an indeterminate penitentiary term.

The other six were sentenced to from 60 days to one year and some were fined.

Several defendants contended they were immune from prosecution because there was no limit to the amount of brokerage commissions they might lawfully charge.

Associate Judge Stanley H. Fuld held in an opinion that "we find their argument unpersuasive," and added:

"The Real Property law, in permitting a broker to collect commissions for legitimate services, gives him no general license to exact tribute from a prospective tenant on the strength of a representation that such a payment will yield to the latter an advantage over others in securing a lease."

The defendants had challenged the constitutionality of Section 965 of the State Penal law under which they were convicted. It prohibits acceptance of "any donation, gratuity, emolument, bonus, gift, payment or thing of value, in addition to lawful charges" for rental of real property.

The other defendants were: Jacob Schaffer, a former employee of the State Tax Department; John Hill, a former assistant manager at Parkchester; Stephen J. Strauss, real estate broker; Marvin Fleet, real estate salesman; and David Kaskell and Gladys Siegel.

Stop, look and listen grade crossing accidents, the National Safety Council advises. Slow up before the crossing, don't stop dead at it. If the train gives a hoot for your life, so should you.

Olive Youth Wins Gold Cup for His Essay in Contest

Shokan, June 2—Harold Carlson's essay on "The New York State Freedom Train," for which the local high school student was awarded first prize of a gold cup in the Olive American Legion Post contest, was as follows:

"Give me liberty or give me death." Yes, still years later those immortal words of Patrick Henry ring clear and loud across the nation from the heart of every patriotic American.

From the very beginning of time, man has shown a steady upward trend toward the freedom we have today in that great and mighty country, our United States of America—your country and my country, no matter what may be your race, creed or color. Yet, today, we are menaced by certain groups of people who are jealous of our wonderful prosperity and way of life, and who are trying their utmost to make our government become polluted and corrupt. Common sense tells each and every one of us that the freedom we have today is the result of the sacrifices of our forefathers, and that the only way to preserve it is to remain vigilant.

The story of labor extends from accounts of union activities in 1875 down to the unemployment insurance law of 1935. The earliest document on education dates from 1670, evolving into the law of 1918 forbidding "quotas" in college.

The greatness of our state, however, cannot be measured alone by the above manuscripts, but due consideration must be given in closing to the words of our first president, George Washington, when, on a visit to New York State, remarked, "New York is truly the seat of the Empire."

The baths of the ancient world and of the Middle Ages often were used by men and women at the same time.

The train consists of six streamlined cars provided by the New York Central Railroad System. Three of these cars which were remodeled and electrically air-conditioned contain the exhibit cases. The remaining three were provided for personnel, baggage and operating power for the train.

All the windows of the cars have been replaced by steel plates, inside and out. An automatic fire extinguisher and burglar alarm system are among the safety features of the train, in addition to shatter-proof glass in the cases which hold the documents illuminated by fluorescent lamps. The cases are so arranged as to provide for teachers and lecturers in conducting large groups. The colors of the train are blue and gold with large bronze casting representing the state's seal on each side of the train.

130 Documents Carried
The exhibition contains 130 authentic documents dating back to the time of the Dutch and their peg-legged governor, Peter Stuyvesant, during whose harsh administration was born the Flushing Remonstrance of 1657, the answer to an official ban on Quakers and often called "The First Declaration of American Independence" guaranteeing freedom of religion and expression. The Duke's Laws of 1665 and the Charter of Liberties and Privileges of 1683 followed.

Freedom of the Press is well illustrated by the copies of the New York Weekly Journal of 1734 and the complaint of his attorney from the press of John Peter Zenger. The evolution of constitutional government is shown by a series beginning with the first New York State Constitution written hurriedly at our own Kingston, New York in 1777 by a persecuted band of patriots. Following this was the Minutes of the Poughkeepsie Convention of 1788, called to consider the new Federal Constitution.

New York State leadership in abolishing racial discrimination is documented beginning with the abolition of Indian Slavery in 1671, Negro Slavery in 1799, up to the anti-discrimination laws of 1945 and 1948. Also included is the original manuscript of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation of 1862 acquired by the State Library in 1865.

More Smiles per Gallon with Dynaflow Drive

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

THERE'S the smile when you slip the selector lever into Driving notch—and realize that's all there is to do.

There's the smile when you swing smoothly up to cruising speed without halt or check or break of stride. There's the smile at traffic lights when you halt, wait, then move away with never a thought about shifting.

But the broadest grin of all comes at the end of a long day's drive and you find you've covered more miles more easily. Even your treadle-foot—so likely to become tired and cramped maintaining an even speed in direct-drive cars—appreciates the fluid ease of Dynaflow.

For Dynaflow Drive is not merely a new transmission. It's a new experience—a new luxury in driving. In ten minutes you are handling it like a veteran—in two days you wouldn't be without it.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER models.

Small wonder, then, that Dynaflow is the drive with which all new developments in transmissions are compared.

Not merely "something better," it is something entirely new, the first exciting chapter in a whole new book.

Go learn for yourself how abundantly rich in pleasure every gallon becomes when you have Dynaflow.

Officials Gamble On Curing Player, Grandmother of 7

Long Beach, Calif., June 3 (AP)—Defying the laws of chance, authorities are trying to drug a gambling grandmother back to normalcy.

Suddenly stricken with a craze for the finer points of poker, Mrs. Sula Bell Stimson, 49, mother of seven and grandmother of seven, has been placed under treatment with injections of glutamic acid. And it seems to be working, says Dr. Marcus Crahan, county jail physician.

After six-weeks treatment, Dr. Crahan said that a brain wave recording yesterday of Mrs. Stimson "shows improvement."

Protein derived, glutamic acid is capable of building up brain tissue, tending to correct toward the normal in a psychomotor disorder, Dr. Crahan declares. It is not a panacea and "certainly not a specific cure for gambling."

The idea is to restore Mrs. Stimson to the grandmotherly character she was before 1948 when the poker tables of Cardena began to take on fascination.

Wrote Bad Checks
She lost her household savings in a short time and soon began writing bad checks to cover losses and keep playing, police said. She was given three-years probation last November.

But in April she was back, again on a check charge stemming from gambling. Superior Judge Fred Miller ordered a psychiatric examination, which resulted in this finding by Dr. Crahan:

"This woman is not a criminal in the normal definition. Her compulsive, almost hypnotic urge (to gamble) performed with full knowledge of consequences but with helplessness to resist, is one of the puzzling mysteries of psycho-medicine. She underwent a complete personality change."

Dr. Crahan said he has used the glutamic acid treatment with some success for two years on some 25 patients. There is certainty of the degree of permanency of the "cure."

But all concerned hope that grandma will lay those cards down—for keeps.

Mrs. R. Steele Sheratt is spending a few days in New York. Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Churchill of Nyack were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Osterhoudt Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Townsend of Kingston were recent guests of Mrs. Owen Goscoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyer of Oneonta have returned home after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heick.

The Shandaken Rural Cemetery Association met at the town hall Saturday night and elected the following officers: Fred M. Cleveland, president; Ned Kelly, vice-president; Theron Townsend, secretary-treasurer; E. G. West, chairman of directors; Jay Hand, Ned Kelly, Mrs. Nellie Bennett, directors.

As Pegler Sees It

Soviet espionage all over the world. Karl Mundt, then a congressman, now a senator, asked Chambers whether he thought it would be wise and helpful to outlaw the Communist party. Chambers said he was emphatically in favor of that.

"There has been spread abroad a notion that if you outlaw the party you won't be able to follow its activities and they will go on in the dark and nobody sees them. They go in the dark where you can't see them anyway and they almost never come to light unless someone breaks as Miss (Elizabeth) Bentley did. What a party dreads more than death is to be outlawed. The reason is simple. The underground groups and the open party depend very strongly on their sympathizers, the people who are not actually members but are members in good standing in the community, and people like Dr. Rosenblatt, who for years moved around in New York and moved rather freely and broadly as a practicing dentist.

"There are plenty of those. Those sympathizers serve in a number of very important ways. They recruit people into their apparatuses. They lend their names, their positions, their homes to the apparatuses. They serve as couriers, very often, or they find people who will serve as couriers. They very often supply considerable sums of money for Communist purposes. You will find in Lenin's work a statement that the one thing the Communist party has to dread above all is outlawing."

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., June 3—When asked as to what industries may have the best long-term future, I always include the commercial fishing industry. This, I know something about, having been born in Gloucester, Mass., the largest fishing port in the United States and having spent all my summers there ever since.

Agricultural Vs. Ocean Products
Due to rains and winds, our soils and their products of grains, vegetables, and livestock are constantly getting reduced in food values. Every day the equivalent of 200 forty-acre farms, groves or ranches are washed down rivers into the sea. This further includes much of the millions of bags of fertilizer which have been put on our soils, and the human waste and garbage, from city sewers.

Hence, the ocean products of fish, lobsters and other sea foods are constantly getting richer, while the products of the farms are constantly getting poorer. The time is coming when your descendants must regularly depend upon fish or synthetic foods for proteins and minerals. The fishing industry is the hope of mankind.

Regulation of Fisheries
The first duty of the United Nations is to control the oceans. This is something which no one nation can do of itself. This could be done largely by regulating trawling and the mesh of all nets used. When the fish need more protection, the United Nations will need only to compel the use of nets with larger meshes, and vice versa.

A female cod fish lays from 1,000,000 to 6,000,000 eggs per year, but owing to "cannibal" fish, careless trawling and the discarding of "baby fish," only a few hundred of these millions of offspring survive. Our commercial fisheries have far greater possibilities than our commercial farms, yet the government is spending only one dollar to protect our fisheries for each one hundred dollars to help agriculture.

The entire industry is now in its infancy, without regulation or modern machinery. It is the only important industry which offers no training schools. No colleges have courses in fishing and fisheries. We know very little about fish except their wonderful nutritional qualities. In fact, certain brands of machine-filletted, frozen or canned fish should be sold in drug stores! Such will do you more good than most medicines at a quarter of the cost! Certainly the fishing industry has a good future for those who will seek quality and deal fairly.

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

Tel Aviv was our first stop in the Middle East, and there Colonel Pearlman, head of the Israeli Office of Information, assigned a car and a number of his staff to show us around. The gas buggy was a Chevrolet that had been better decades, but our guide, a Captain Lionel Peyton, had a Bond street accent and a Downing street air.

"I don't get it," Eleanor asked, as the well-mannered officer helped her into the jalopy. But a few questions later it was all clear—Peyton hailed from South Africa and had spent the war years in the British Army.

A mile or so out of Tel Aviv, we began chugging past thousands of uninhabited and habitable acres, green as anybody's technicolor valley and dotted only occasionally by houses.

"This is something I didn't expect," I said. "I thought Israel had all the people it could handle."

The Captain smiled. "If you think this is sparsely settled," he said, "wait till you see the country around Gallilee."

Halfway to Jerusalem, we passed quite a few burned-out Israeli trucks—tanks flopped over on their sides. "The Arabs com-manded the hills on both sides of the road," said Peyton, "and for a while our blokes had a rough time of it."

On an elevation a few hundred yards further on, we passed a yellow sandstone fortress, a city block square, that looked a lot like the garrison posts we had seen in India. "Knocking that one off," I said, "must have cost a lot of blood."

"Quite a bit," said the Captain, "but we had no choice. Our food trucks had to get through to Jeru-salem."

There was something personal about the way he said "we," and so I asked him whether he had taken part in the attack.

Peyton nodded. "I was in charge of the task force."

"How many Arabs were holed up in the fort?" asked Eleanor.

"About four hundred."

"How many men in your task force?"

"Forty-one, counting myself."

"Isn't there an old military rule of thumb that the attacking army must outnumber the enemy three-to-one?" I asked.

"This was a curious war," said Peyton, "and I'm afraid we had very little time for statistics."

"What kind of artillery did you use?" asked my mistress.

"Sticks of dynamite," said the captain. "Stuff we made in our cellars and attics."

"Tell me about the battle," I said.

"It was a rainy night," said Peyton, "and we attacked around 1 a. m., partly because we didn't want the Arabs to know how few we were, and partly because the Oriental doesn't care for hand-to-hand combat in the dark."

"Our first 12 men got as far as the walls, but they couldn't get the makeshift fuses on our dynamite to work—the rain kept put-ting out their matches and cigar-ette lighters. Arab soldiers cut them down, and so I sent up the next 12. Well, the same thing happened to them and the dozen men who followed them. Then, while we were wondering what to do next, the Arabs abandoned the fortress and I took over."

"With four men?" asked Eleanor.

"Five," said the captain, "in-cluding myself."

"Why did the Arabs run?" I asked.

"We couldn't understand it our-selves," said Peyton, "until the next morning when one of our patrols brought in a rifleman who had fled from the fort. One of my men who spoke Arabic ques-tioned him, and he told us that after the third attack their of-ficers had conferred, decided we were crazy, and that it was only a matter of time before somebody got the dynamite lit. And that the intelligent thing was to get out before they were all blown to bits."

"I guess," said Eleanor, "the Moslems had heard the punch line of the old joke—'A fellow can get killed around here.'"

Some miles further on, we came to a sizable town crawling up a hill, and the captain told us it was being used by refugees from Yemen. I'll bet it took more than 40 men to capture that one," said the military strategist I'm married to.

"Considerably more," Peyton admitted. "Here we had artillery and air support—or at least that's what the Arabs thought. We knew a direct attack up the hill on the machine gun emplacements that encircled the town was out of the question and so, after talking things over, we decided to try something you Americans were pretty good at a few years back—psychological warfare."

"The one piece of heavy ord-nance we had been able to turn out in our improvised machine shops was a mortar and, though it could only throw a shell as far as a good shot-punter, it went off with one hell of an explosion. And so, about 3 one morning we lined up fifty of them on the road be-low, together with half a dozen old airplane motors on sound trucks. Loud speakers were set up in the trees and, shortly be-fore dawn, we let go with every-thing we had."

"Well, it must have sounded like Armageddon to the Arabs be-cause, when the sun came up, there wasn't even a welcoming committee left in town."

"In other words," I said, "you won that battle with sound ef-fects."

"Well, you might put it that way," said the captain.

Orange G.O.P. Wants Fish for U. S. Senate

Goshen, N. Y., June 3 (AP)—Hamilton Fish, who fought for years in Congress against the late President Roosevelt, has been asked to step into the political scene again.

General elections for the Senate will be held next year. The 228-member county committee passed a resolution asking Fish to be a candi-date. He thanked the group for its support, but would not commit himself in the race.

Fish is a member of the committee, serving from New-burgh, where he has a resi-dence.

Quotes on Marriage*
"All single men want to be married. All married men want to be dead."
"A guy doesn't know what happiness is until he gets married—then it's too late."
"Marriage is alright, but it's not for single people."
This being June—the month of brides (and a newly-acquired mother-in-law)—there comes a time for wedding receptions. We have all kinds, with and without music. We have reservations for some already, but if you're thinking of middle-ailing it, we still have room for another one. And, on your last few dates why not visit us and hear the FOUR SHARPS sing songs of romance every Friday, Saturday and Sunday. All kidding aside, though, we still think marriage is a wonderful institution (and please, don't pull that all bromide about "I don't want to be in an institution.")

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, June 2—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lammie of Long Island spent the holiday with Eddie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lammie, Sr. The young man resided here two years ago and attended Kingston High School.

Mrs. Robert L. Peck of New York is again at the Peck family summer home near Tice TenEyck Mountain.

Students of the Holyville unit of the Ontario Central School district who have received high honor ratings are: Helen DeBruyn, Sandra Bonoso, Frank DeDonato and Harriet Reuss. Helen is a member of the Shokan Reformed Church choir.

Callers in the village center Saturday included Isaac Levan Merrinew, Kingston resident and operator of the Pine Hill bus line. Levan is a son of old Tongore families, his great-grandfather, Henry K. Merrinew, having been one of the early town clerks of Olive for several terms.

Religious services have been resumed for the summer months at the historic yellow meeting house near Roxbury. The pastor of this church is Elder Arnold Bellows of West Hurley who also preaches at several other Old School Baptist meeting houses. The elder enjoys carrying the message to widely separated points. Last month, for instance, he preached in Pennsylvania and was one of the elders present at a union gathering of Baptists in Gardiner, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. Algot Olson of Brooklyn, who have had the same rented summer camp here for the past eight years, came up by bus for the week-end and holiday. Birthdays falling on Saturday, June 4, include that of Joanna Van Kleeck, Kingston resident for many years and formerly of the Krumville section of Olive. Mrs. Van Kleeck, who was born in 1886, has many friends and relatives in the reservoir country.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Siedler are visiting Mrs. Siedler's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Albin Emmer and son, John, in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Emmer before marriage was Mabel Greene of Shokan. The local couple in the course of their trip will attend the graduation June 4 in Baltimore of John D. Emmer.

Harold Carlson of Shokan received a cup and Mary Gulnick of Ashokan a medal as their awards for being successful participants in Olive Legion Post's essays contest. The awards were conferred at the impressive Memorial Day ceremonies at the Tongore churchyard Monday afternoon.

Gardner Mason of Rose's Brook near South Kentright after spending two days in fruitless effort to find a stray heifer, finally had a bright idea. He secured a plane and pilot from Ontario to make the search. Results came in a few minutes; the heifer, which had become a proud mamma, and her lusty offspring being found okay. Farmers will appreciate this incident (seems the amusing angle) as a familiar one, and will asseverate that female bovines upon occasion of a "blessed event" are likely to hide out in the most isolated spot in the pasture. Or, as our Old Timer might put it: "They kin pick out the durned places!"

Mrs. Chase Davis, perhaps the oldest, continuous resident of the west side reservoir country, and son, Elwyn, were numbered among the many callers here on Sunday. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Longyear of New York and Phoenix, Ariz.

Shokan, June 3—The Misses Betty and Anne Gruber of Kingston were holiday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elmendorf.

Summer visitors here for the week-end included Mr. and Mrs. Edward Terhune and children of Fleetwood who were at the Plectro Mastretta place on the Trail. Justus North, local contractor, is engaged on another job at the Watson Hollow place of Mrs. Cooper of Philadelphia where he has had employment for the past two years. The current project there is a summer school building designed to accommodate about 40 children.

The Rev. Milton H. Ryan, new Methodist Church pastor at Ashokan, started preaching in Treadwell in 1925, served at Harpersfield and North Harpersfield in 1939-42, and also preached in Greene county, before assuming his recent pastorate at Downs-ville.

Upper grade pupils of the Ashokan school and their teacher, Ruth West, recently enjoyed a sight-seeing trip to Albany and Saratoga.

Charles Jackson, Kingston war veteran, died on his brother, Frank Jackson, Wednesday evening. Charles recently was a patient at Bronx Veterans Hospital where he underwent several operations.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Chopay of Springfield, L. I., spent the holiday with Mrs. Chopay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Giles of the old state road.

Norman North, a member of the Olive Legion Post, has employment on the Lackawack waterworks project.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Rossman have opened their boarding house for the summer season.

A varied and appetizing menu has been planned for the Woodland Valley picnic of the Ontario Central School district, teachers, officials and guests on Monday evening, June 6. James Morrissey has volunteered to help with the camp fires at this event. A clause in the picnic announcement states that "slacks may be worn." (That we shall have to see) and the alternative place in case of rain will be parish hall in Phoenix, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Casablanca of Washington Heights while at their rented cottage on the Trail, set out a number of fine rose bushes in the yard. Bernard, a plastering contractor who last year was engaged on several new skyscrapers in Manhattan, is now associated with his brother on their own housing job in Elizabeth, N. J. Carmelle and captivated baby, Vincent, will come here soon for the summer months.

Alfred Iapoco, genial Ashokan resident, is around town again after having been a patient at a Kingston hospital.

John Yerry, well known Shandaken resident, is reported to have narrowly escaped death from electrocution while working at his duties as a section hand at the Kelly Corners crossing of the mountain branch of the Central railroad. John at the time was engaged in measuring the distance of the high tension wires, carrying 4,400 volts, above the rails with a cotton tape which he had thrown up to the wires with the aid of a string attached to a stone. When he touched the other end of the tape to the rail, he was thrown violently to the tracks where he lay tossing in agony and subsequently was found to be burned in some places to the bone.

Several members of the Alfred Wallerstein family of Brooklyn were at their place in the village for the holiday.

Week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rast included Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schaefer of Flushing, together with their friends, Mrs. M. Dohrmayer and Otto Storch of Forest Hills.

The height of vacationists, returning home from the mountains Monday evening, was virtually an almost continuous procession of cubs for several hours. There had of course been nothing like it this year, and some observers expressed the opinion that it was the greatest automotive show of all time along Route 28. The deluge pouring down from the mountains served to give the locals a lively foretaste of what may be expected in traffic conditions on the Ontario Trail, come summer.

Calling at the Winchell home in the village Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Roger H. Loughran of Hurley and children, Alberta and Dr. Elbert Loughran, both of New York. The family had been to Woodstock where Judge Loughran made a Memorial Day address.

New Paltz, were among visitors of Mrs. A. D. Wager and daughter on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cole and Roland Cole of Highland have moved in the farmhouse of Harold Lucy in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Douglas and son Robert have returned to Brooklyn after spending the holiday vacation at their summer home here.

Modena Home Bureau members will serve dessert and coffee to the visiting members of the Ulster County Home Bureau, who have planned a county-wide tour on Thursday, June 10. The tour will start in Highland, and proceed to Modena. Luncheon will be eaten in Kasbrouck Memorial Hall.

Local members of the Plattekill Grange attended the regular meeting held Saturday evening in the Grange Hall.

One in Every Six Has Red Cross Certificate

Approximately one out of every six persons in the United States has received an American Red Cross certificate for completion of health, safety, or other training courses, according to a survey just completed at the organization's national headquarters in Washington, D. C. The survey revealed that 21,561,500 certificates in four Red Cross services have been issued since 1910. Heading the list were first aid, water safety, and accident prevention with 17,211,350 certificates. Home nursing accounts for 2,955,950 awards, nutrition for 729,200 and volunteer services for 665,000.

Safety Winner Washington, D. C., won the grand award in the 1948 National Traffic Safety Contest, the National Safety Council has announced. The top state in the safety competition was Massachusetts.

Do You Remember

by
SOPHIE MILLER

I wonder how many remember how or why they came to Kingston? I asked John Harder, who came from Germany in 1885 and later drove one of the tow-horses for the horse-cars up Broadway. He said he well remembered although so long ago. Their relatives from Spruce street in Kingston sent them money for their transportation and so his parents and the six children took the steamship out of Europe. However, some of the youngsters and his mother got the measles and were all taken off the boat at Southampton. The steamship line put them up in a good hotel with medical care for some weeks.

On the way over they became acquainted with a very nice man from Massachusetts who sold musical instruments and had them in the steage near the engine. When they arrived a week too late at Ellis Island no one came to meet them, so the merchant sort of looked after them as they couldn't speak a word of English.

At Ellis Island they stayed about another week. He paid for their extra food and other things and finally having to go on, he loaned them money for train fare and put them all on a train for Kingston. He told the conductor to make sure they were left off at Kingston. Well the conductor forgot and they got off at a small place near Saugerties. Somehow they were put on another train and sent back to Kingston, now some two weeks late so of course no one was there to meet them.

They started walking down Broadway, around McEntee street, they saw a saloon about where Flicks is now and it seemed to have a German name, so Harder went in, but the saloon keeper couldn't speak German and didn't know anything about their relatives. They walked further until they came down to Rondout creek, "lost in Kingston, for sure!" they thought. Finally they walked back up the hill again and it was getting on to dusk, no money, they were all hungry and very tired and in a strange city in a strange world. Mrs. Harder got as far as Meadow and Broadway and said she just couldn't go another step.

Somehow they decided to still make Spring street for luck. There Mr. Harder saw a man with a long white beard and they told him their troubles. This man took them by the arm, "Why I know your relatives well, they are neighbors of mine, come with me!" And so in walked John's father, mother and six children to surprise their Kingston-American relatives and to begin life as an American and Kingstonian. (Also the first thing they did was to repay the kind Massachusetts man in full.)

Mrs. E. G. E. of Hurley has sent me the 1907 "Kingston Argus" newspaper in which a poem called "The Coming of the Water Works" by Mrs. A. Ferry Loomis of West Shokan, is published. This was the time that folks had to move for the building of the Ashokan Reservoir. Mrs. E. G. E. says, "I too was one of the movers," such is the price of progress. Moving from one continent to another or from one town to another is always filled with a certain amount of pathos.

Floorwalker—How long have you been married, madam?

Lady Customer—Twelve years.

Madge—My husband is an efficiency expert in a large office.

Helen—What does an efficiency expert do?

Madge—Well, if we women did it, they'd call it nagging.

Why is it that the fellow who's the life of the party on his night out is usually such a grouch at home?

Profanity makes ignorance audible.

Customer—Does a man with a little hair as I've got have to pay full price to have it cut?

Barber—Yes, and sometimes more. We usually charge double when we have to hunt for the hair.

Music may soothe the savage, but the man in the apartment below is apt to become savage if you insist on making music too loud and too late.

Noise ranks among the two causes of frayed nerves and irritated dispositions.

Give your neighbor a break—break up that party at a reasonable hour.

Teacher—Name three collective nouns.

Junior—Fly-paper, waste-basket and vacuum-cleaner.

INVITING BRIDEGROOM'S FAMILY
A bride-to-be writes: "I'm marrying a man whose family lives out of town. Should I mail him mother and father an engraved invitation, or is that too impersonal, and would it be better to write a personal note? I know they are coming to the wedding, so isn't it rather curious to be inviting them just as though I didn't know?"

You should send them an engraved invitation because they are interested in seeing it, and you should also write a personal note with it saying that you are sending the invitation just for them to look at, and that you are looking forward to having them with you on that day.

Hat Not Proper With Evening Clothes.
Dear Mrs. Post: What kind of hat does one wear to an 8 o'clock evening church wedding, when wearing a formal evening dress? There will be a large reception at the Country Club after the ceremony. Or on this occasion may one properly go into church without a hat?

Answer: If it is really formal evening dress, you cannot possibly wear a hat with it any more than you can wear rubber shoes, but you may put a flower in your hair, or any other small item which serves as head covering. Or a bit of tulle or veiling. Whatever this is, you may, of course, take it off at the reception—or wear it, if becoming!

Miss Jones Preferable to Miss Janet

Dear Mrs. Post: I am in my early forties and a good friend of a man who is divorced and has a young daughter. He is trying to have the child call me "Miss Janet" instead of "Janet" as he thinks "Janet" sounds disrespectful. Is "Miss Janet" suitable in your opinion?

Answer: There is no impropriety in this, although I think calling you "Miss Jones" would be much better than calling you "Miss Janet."

A description of the wedding reception, the cake, photographs, paying the expenses and many other questions arising when a wedding is planned are included in Mrs. Post's booklet, No. 501. To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y. 310 New Cancer Cases Reported During Last Year

A notable increase in early discovery of cancer cases in this area has been made during the past year.

Of the total cases reported in Kingston during 1948, 36.3 per cent were classified as "early cases" compared with 23.3 per cent in 1947, according to figures compiled by the Ulster County Health Department and released today through Mrs. Margaret VanWageningen, executive director of the Ulster County Branch of the American Cancer Society.

This gain in early discovery was attributed by Dr. George James, county health commissioner, to two factors:

1. Educational programs in the county, urging patients to go to their physician promptly when they have a suspicion of cancer, rather than waiting, and
2. Physicians are becoming more alert to the cancer problem.

Early discovery, Dr. James said, increases the chance of a cure by a marked degree.

In Ulster county, 310 new cancer cases were reported by physicians, hospitals, clinics and laboratories in 1948, according to the figures released by Mrs. VanWageningen. Of the total, 49.4 per cent were women.

Of the women who were found to be suffering from cancer during the year, 14.4 per cent were under 45 years of age. Of the men, only 8.9 per cent were under 45. Six cases were reported among children under the age of 15.

Carnival Men Missing, Also $10 and Suitcase

Two men left the Buck Shows carnival near Kingston Thursday night with $10 in cash and a suitcase of clothing which belonged to a carnival employee, according to a report received about midnight at the Lake Katrine station of the New York State Police.

The men had been given a $10 bill to make change at a booth, the report stated, but failed to return. The theft of the suitcase was discovered later, state police said. State police had no description of the men, who were said to have been employed about the carnival, which is now playing on Route 9W just north of Kingston.

Trial Is Suspended

Washington, June 3 (AP)—Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves temporarily halted Judith Coplon's defense team today to study a defense demand that the government produce secret F.B.I. reports in full. P.S.C. Raises . . .

charge of 8 per cent on all monthly bills.

The increase in toll charges, according to the commission, is not on a percentage basis. It was explained that, under the company's plan, the initial period rates for such calls daily except Sunday will be increased by five cents for distances of 37 miles and over.

Overnight charges per minute for all calls of 40 cents and over will be increased from one-quarter to one-third, of the initial period station to station rate.

The commission opinion said that the increased revenue to the company from the higher rates will not mean profit to the company to the full amount of the increase since 35 per cent will be taken by the federal government in taxes and there will be an additional two per cent in other taxes.

Local Statement Made

The Public Service Commission today granted the New York Telephone Company an interim increase of 8 per cent in monthly charges for local service and facilities effective upon filing tariffs applicable in Kingston and nearby exchanges as well as throughout the company's state-wide territory.

The commission also granted a temporary increase in toll rates for calls within the state, as follows:

On day rates for calls of 37 miles and over, station-to-station rates for the initial period increases five cents. Person-to-person calls increase between five and 15 cents.

According to C. E. Burnett, local telephone manager, under the schedule of permanent rates which the telephone company has proposed and which the Public Service Commission is still considering, monthly rates for Kingston subscribers, excluding tax would be as follows:

Residence service: Individual line, $4.25; 2-party line, $3.50; 4-party line and rural line, $3.00.

Business service: Individual line flat rate, $9.00; individual line message rate (75 messages), $5.25; 2-party line, flat rate, withdrawn; rural flat rate, $4.25.

In Esopus, Fleischmanns, High Falls, Phoenicia, Pine Hill, Rosendale, Shokan and Woodstock the proposed permanent rates would be as follows:

Residence service: Individual line, $3.00; 4-party line, $2.50; rural line, $2.50.

Business service: Individual line, $4.50; 2-party line, $4.00; 4-party line, withdrawn; rural line, $3.25.

Chambers Declares

for a job with the Works Progress Administration.

Chambers said he swore to support the constitution although he was a Communist dedicated to "help overthrow our country by force."

"It was perjury wasn't it?" asked Stryker.

"It was," said Chambers.

Probing into the background of the witness, who claims he was a courier for the spy ring, Stryker asked him if he was ever "kicked out" of Columbia University.

Chambers said he left the university because of a "very just criticism" of a play he wrote for a campus magazine. He said it was "highly offensive" in its treatment of Christ.

Lawyers on the issue. Extracts of the reports involved were found, in Coplon's purse when she was arrested with Valentine Gubichev, a Russian.

100 Trout Found Dead in Sawkill Near Country Club

Woodstock, June 3.—The State Conservation Department is investigating the cause of death of approximately 100 trout discovered near the Sawkill Creek near the Woodstock Country Club Thursday afternoon.

The dead trout were found by Walter Risleley of Woodstock. They ranged in size from very small up to 18 inches, he reported.

Risleley notified village officials, who contacted State Trooper Ray Dunn of Phoenicia. Dunn, with Constables Philip Gillen and Roger W. Frenenburg, is conducting the investigation.

Conservation Department biologists today are making tests to determine whether the kill was caused by chemical activity possibly due to commercial activities somewhere along the stream.

Whatever caused the death of the trout apparently did not affect other fish. Since Risleley reported seeing suckers alive in the same part of the stream.

Senator Honored

comed the guests who "have come to honor our Republican leader for his prowess as a leader here in Ulster county and for his accomplishments in the State Senate."

Have said members of the Republican committee felt they would be remiss, did they not pay honor to a committee to Senator Wicks who has done so much for his district and the people of the entire state of New York.

First to be called upon by Toastmaster Haver was Louis F. Stanger, a Saugerties man who spoke for the "Younger Republicans" and for the students who have been given aid in acquiring a college education through the efforts of Senator Wicks. Fracello said long before the Veterans' Administration program of aid to veterans was in force, Senator Wicks has been giving assistance to many needy students who sought a higher education. The appreciation of these students could not be expressed in mere words, Fracello said, and he referred to the personal interest which Senator Wicks had always taken in these students and the time and personal effort which Senator Wicks was always willing to devote to these people even though his legislative duties were many, time consuming and arduous.

The dais, which had been arranged on the stage of the big dining hall at Williams Lake Hotel, was very attractively decorated with flowers and greens and across the front of the table facing the guests was a large "W" which Wicks' lettered on a green background with white carnations. The floral decorations were by the Rosendale Florist.

Throughout the evening the dinner committee, which included all of the members of the Republican Central Committee with the committee from every election district in the county, and many other guests, were seated at long tables. The principal speaker of the evening was Senator Wicks.

Former Senator George R. Fearon, referred to by Haver as the "guiding star of Senator Wicks," was the first to speak. Fearon was majority leader of the Senate in leadership in the early days, was the principal speaker of the evening.

"In opening Fearon said he was glad to see Senator Wicks attain the high position which he now held.

"It is good to know some of the seed I planted in the center aisle when I was in the Senate has sprouted," he said, and he turned to Senator John J. Dunnigan, of Poughkeepsie, and later majority leader of the Senate from 1933 to 1939, and welcomed Senator Dunnigan who had come to pay his respects to Senator Wicks.

Telegrams Are Read

Telegrams were read from several who were unable to attend the dinner, including Congressman Jay LeFevre who said his thoughts were with the group but his duties in Washington prevented his attendance. Hon. William I. Pfeiffer, chairman of the State Republican Committee, who was also on the dais, said he was proud to have Senator Wicks as a member of the Senate.

Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, president of the Women's Republican Club of Ulster county, referred to the encouragement which Senator Wicks had always given the women's group and the recognition which he had always given for its part in better government.

Humorously he referred to the testimonial dinner given two weeks ago which was for "men only." That had aroused the curiosity of the women folk, she said, but "the bars are down tonight and we are here to pay our tribute to Senator Wicks as members of the Ulster County Republican Club."

Mrs. Connelly referred to the compliments paid to Senator Wicks as county leader by Governor Dewey for the big Republican vote which was given Governor Dewey in the last campaign. She referred to Senator Wicks as a man who "always tried to help all who came to him" and spoke of his patience both individual and governmental. Mrs. Connelly referred to him as a "man of the people" who had worked for over 20 years for the benefit of the county, the senatorial district which he serves and the state of New York as a whole. In closing she said she was highly pleased at his recognition in the Senate, a recognition which he highly deserved, and she expressed the hope that it would not be long before the title "Senator" would be repeated by the "Governor."

This statement brought forth prolonged applause.

Pastor Speaks

Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed church and Senator Wicks' minister, opened with a humorous reference to lengthy sermons and then proceeded to deliver a talk which was later referred to by Senator Fearon as "one of the finest talks I have ever been privileged to listen to."

The Rev. Mr. Dykstra said he was pleased to come to say a word about a man to whom he referred as "one who knows people."

He spoke of the great work which Senator Wicks has done in "remembering people" and being able to recall their names and their business, to discuss with them personal affairs and to interest himself in their affairs. Senator Wicks was referred to as a man who knew people not as voters but "first as people."

'Intellectually Honest'

In likening Senator Wicks to Abraham Lincoln, founder of Republicanism, the speaker said there was a "profound and positive comparison." Both he said knew the people well, their "humble needs—their hopes—their aspirations—and both dedicated their lives to represent these people in an honest and unselfish way.

"The ways keeping in mind the cause of democracy," he spoke of Senator Wicks, like Lincoln, as being "intellectually honest" and "judged about by a sense of obligation to the truth which nothing can shake." Reference to the high ability of Senator Wicks was frequently made and he said there was "none of that which Graham Wallace called 'the insolence of office' in Senator Wicks, he knows his people."

There is a fallacy among some professional legislators that democracy is knowing and caring for a certain set of ideals and ideas. . . . we can be grateful that we have a representative who realizes that democracy is first knowing and caring for a certain set of people whom he represents," said the speaker. He said Senator Wicks was a man "dedicated to the people and a man who could not be shaken from that course."

Wadlin Gives Tribute

Assemblyman John Wadlin, who has served with Senator Wicks in the Legislature for nine years, referred to the great energy of the senator, telling of the manner in which he worked tirelessly during the closing session of the Legislature to bring about the best possible type of legislation. He paid a high tribute to the senator for his "sterling characteristics" and his "enjoyment for doing what is worth while for others."

Wadlin said during the time Senator Wicks has been in the Senate he has been instrumental in having written into law some of the "most worthwhile legislation" ever produced. He spoke of his pleasure at being associated with Senator Wicks in the Legislature and referred to the high esteem in which the senator is held in Albany among the legislators.

Former Senator George R. Fearon, referred to by Haver as the "guiding star of Senator Wicks," was the first to speak. Fearon was majority leader of the Senate in leadership in the early days, was the principal speaker of the evening.

self to his own picked committee of three in every county and every city in the state and there was no provision in the bill for a plan of distribution. It all could be passed out by the governor to any of these communities "at his whim or pleasure."

Fought by G.O.P.

This bill was fought by the Republican Legislature and Senator Wicks presented a measure by which the community would get 40 per cent reimbursement for home relief and every community could benefit. A compromise was finally arrived at whereby $1,000,000 could be used for temporary employment of persons entitled to relief on public improvements undertaken or required by the state and not let out by contract, with the balance of $3,000,000 to be used for the balance of 40 per cent of the amount expended for home relief. The Wicks bill as amended was approved and served the communities well.

In closing Fearon paid a high tribute to Senator Wicks and said he "knew the problem of men, the problem of the state, the problem of the people, and the problem of the State government, and knows how far the State can go and stay solvent." He said even now some men are working three days a week for the government some of it in hidden taxes. The interest of Senator Wicks in education was referred to and he said in the past four years the State has provided more education than ever before in the history of the state.

Turning to Mrs. Wicks, Fearon said she had played a great part in the success of her husband and he called upon her to "take a bow," concluding that "I take off my hat to you." He wished both Senator and Mrs. Wicks a "long and happy life and in the coming years may it bring to you everything your heart desires."

Bags Are Presented

Sensor Wicks and Mrs. Wicks were presented with two handsome leather traveling bags as a token of esteem from those gathered at the dinner.

In accepting, Senator Wicks said he was "again overcome," and continuing said he did not know what he had done to deserve the tributes which had been paid. Any success he had achieved in the Senate, he said, was due to two men, Senator Fearon's teachings, for it had been Senator Fearon who had taught him "how to give" and it had been Senator Dunnigan who had taught him "how to take it."

"I could not fall under the tutelage of Fearon and Dunnigan," said Senator Wicks. He said he was proud to be a politician and proud to be the majority leader.

"Thank God we have a two party system," he continued and said that just as soon as it became a one party county freedom would be lost as it has been lost in counties which do not enjoy the democracy of a two party system.

"I am proud to be able to serve my fellowmen. I am proud of the progressive Republican administration in Ulster county — and just so long as the party remains in power, we shall continue to have a good, honest administration and just as soon as we fall in that duty we shall be out on our feet."

Tribute to Officials

Sensor Wicks paid his personal tribute to the county city and town officials and thanked them for their cooperation. He said he was proud of the public health program of the county for just so long as the people remained well, healthy and able to work, relief would be held to a minimum. He congratulated the county on its good roads and saluted the Superintendent of Highways, James F. Loughran for his excellent job, particularly in snow removal. A special tribute was paid to the loyalty of James A. Simpson, Mrs. Connelly, State Committee Woman Marguerite Quick and all those who aided on the dinner committee.

Following the benediction by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra of the Fair Street Reformed Church, the meeting adjourned and dancing followed.

Those seated on the dais were: Mrs. Arthur H. Wicks, Vincent G. Connelly, Kingston city chairman; the Rev. Albert H. Shultz, pastor of Rosendale Reformed Church; Marguerite Quick, member state committee; James A. Simpson, county president, Ulster county Women's Republican Club; Congressman William L. Pfeiffer, chairman, state Republican committee; Hon. George R. Fearon, Senator Arthur H. Wicks, N. LeVan Haver, toastmaster; the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, Assemblyman John F. Wadlin, Louis P. mied open prison, officials said, but the man confined there did not join the others.

Bars of six of the individual cells were reported cut with a homemade drill saw, while the remaining nine cells were jammed open by those who already had gotten outside.

His Third Escape

All of those who escaped occupied individual cells. As a double precaution, some of these were set off by a heavy screen mesh. It was necessary for the men to unlock this section, after sawing the bars before reaching the main prison section behind the walls.

Prison authorities said this marked the third escape for one of the fugitives, Otto Heff, 38, of Ohio county, serving life for the kidnapping of a Wheeling city policeman.

Officials said the escape preparations apparently had been going on for some time. Cuts in the bars had been concealed with black soap.

Jones Dairy Blasts Morgan's 10-5, for Third Straight Win

Bock Leads 14-Hit Attack on Losers

Jones Dairy hit steadily and scored runs like telephone numbers to breeze past Morgan's Restaurant, 10-5, for their third straight victory in the City League contest yesterday at the Athletic Field.

While the Dairy men clubbed Artie Barnes and Ferrell for 14 safeties, including a homer by Charlie Bock, a triple and three doubles, Tommy Fisher and Bill Windburn collaborated to check the Morgan's with seven hits.

Bock's homer was delivered in the fourth inning behind a double by Johnny Schatzel and sailed over the left field barrier. It was the fourth circuit clout in the last two games in the twilight loop.

Gain Big Lead
Joneses run up a 6-0 lead before Morgan's counted three times in the fourth. They added a singleton in the fifth and closed out the scoring with a trio in the sixth. Morgan's registered single times in the sixth and seventh.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)
London — Bruce Woodcock, 195½, London, knocked out Freddie Mills, 175½, London, 14. (Title.)
New York (Queensboro Arena) — Jimmy Flood, 160½, New York, and Alexie Kronovitz, 159½, Brooklyn, drew 8.
Brooklyn (Fort Hamilton) — Joe Micelli, 145, New York, outpointed Fred Meina, 148½, New York, 10.

Deny Gardella, Lanier, Martin Reinstatements

New York, June 3 (AP)—Three former major league players who have $2,500,000 in suits pending against organized baseball have been denied immediate reinstatement in the game from which they are suspended.

But the U. S. Court of Appeals, in upholding a decision of a lower court in turning down the players' petitions, suggested that their suits should be "brought to trial as soon as possible."

The petitions were filed by Danny Gardella, former New York Giants outfielder, and Max Lanier and Fred Martin, one-time pitchers of the St. Louis Cardinals. They asked that baseball be restrained from enforcing their suspensions pending settlement of the suits.

The three were suspended for five years in 1944 for jumping to the Mexican League. They are suing for damages—Gardella for $300,000 and Lanier and Martin for $2,500,000—on the contention that baseball is a monopoly operating in violation of the Anti-Trust laws and they are being deprived of a chance to earn a livelihood.

Yesterday's ruling, written by Chief Judge Learned Hand and concurred in by Judges Thomas W. Swan and Jerome N. Frank, did not pass on the Anti-Trust issue.

Woodcock Kayoes Mills in 14th

London, June 3 (AP)—Bruce Woodcock, a fugitive from ring oblivion, is being hailed today as a worthy foe for American Lee Savold in their Sept. 6 bout which Britain, at least, terms a world heavyweight championship affair.

Woodcock retained his British, Empire and European heavyweight titles last night at White City Stadium by knocking out Freddie Mills, also of England, in the 14th round.

That earned him a shot at Savold. Promoter Jack Solomon is advertising the fight as being for Joe Louis' vacant title.

Last night's attraction, scheduled for 15 rounds, was witnessed by 46,000 fans who paid $280,000. Each fighter received $56,000.

The underdog in the betting and scorned by most boxing experts, Woodcock had been virtually written off when his jaw was fractured two years ago by Joe Baksi of Kulpnort, Pa. The three victories Bruce scored since starting a comeback last September were unconvincing.

Top Weight for Capot In Peter Pan Handicap

New York, June 3 (AP)—A field of 11 three-year-old stars, including the Kentucky Derby and Preakness champs, is expected to meet tomorrow in the Peter Pan Handicap, final major prep for the Belmont stakes.
Heading the list for the mile and one-eighth Belmont Park feature are Calumet farm's Ponder and Greentree stable's Capot. Ponder won the derby May 7. Capot won the second. A week later the Greentree star reversed the tables and took the Preakness while Ponder came home fifth.
Capot was given high weight of 128 pounds for the Peter Pan; Ponder, 123.

K.H.S. Undefeated Golf Squad

Kingston High School's brilliant, undefeated golf squad turns out for the cameraman at Wiltwyck Golf Club, their home course. Already tabbed as the greatest high school golf team in Hudson valley history, the group returns almost intact for the 1950 campaign. The players are, in usual order, Gerald Wells, Charles Bostic, Leon Randall, No. 1 star, Dick Davenport, No. 2 and John Gleason. Coach Russ Cunningham looks on approvingly. (Freeman Photo)

Colonials Lose in Bristol, 7-3; Demeri Goes Against Stamford

Cashion Routed in First Inning

The Colonials fall back on their only "stopper," young Frank Demeri, who boasts a 4-1 record for the season, in Stamford tonight, hoping that he can avert a disastrous losing streak.

The locals dropped their third straight in Bristol last night, 7 to 3, after "Bobo" Cashion was routed during a four-run rally in the first inning.

"Bobo" Row's base-clearing triple and an infield gave the second place Bees a 4-0 edge with only one out and the Colonials never picked up the lost ground, even though Lefty Zupnick, a wild southpaw gave them numerous opportunities and left 12 men stranded.

Sostre Improves
The only encouraging aspect of last night's setback was the improved pitching form of Francisco Sostre, the Puerto Rican right hander who permitted three runs and nine hits in six and two-thirds innings. Counted on as a regular starter and probable 15-game winner, Sostre, bothered by an arm ailment, had been a complete bust to date.

Cashion's quick exit following on the heels of a slight chubab with Manager Julie Lavano on the last road trek may have ominous repercussions for the right hander who has been next to useless so far in the campaign.

Drives in Two Runs
Sostre aided his own cause with a two-run double in the second inning and Danny Peimuter sin-gled across the final marker in the sixth.

Zupnick performed in typical rookie southpaw fashion for the Bees by walking nine, fanning five and uncorking a wild pitch. The Colonials crowded him on several occasions but he always managed to get the crucial third out.

Eddie McNamara collected two of the Colonials' seven safeties. Rowe pounded a pair of singles in addition to his triple for the Bees, while Bernier, Kelly and La France, each hit safely twice.

Annual Banquet Set for K.W.B.A.

The annual banquet of the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association will be held on Tuesday, June 7, at Gislans in Port Ewen.

Mrs. Reta Frederick, K.W.B.A. secretary, announced today that team and individual championship trophies for the various local leagues and city tournament would be awarded at that time.

A large attendance is predicted and reservations must be made by June 4. Reservations can be made with Marge Jensen at 4414, or Marguerite Logan, 1544, or Mrs. Frederick, 735.

Montgomery Ward Nine Defeats Jesse's, 4-2

Pounding out three home runs, Montgomery Ward defeated Jesse's Tavern, 4 to 2, in a City Softball League contest yesterday. The circuit blows were credited to Georgy Ausanio and Brooklyn. Doyle and Saul formed the winning battery. Blankschan and Dasher worked for the losers.

The word "artillery" was first used for all engines used to discharge missiles, but in more recent times it has been used only for firearms of long range capable of discharging a bursting projectile.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press

By JACK HAND

Hail the fighting Phillies—new fence-busting champs of baseball. Five home runs in a smashing eight-inning rally last night put the 1949 Phils in the record books alongside the 1939 New York Giants. No more Futility Phils.

Only once before in modern baseball has a team hit five homers in one inning. The Giants did it 10 years ago at the Polo Grounds after two were out. In both cases, Cincinnati was the victim.

Two Buses Seized

Paris, June 3 (AP)—Paris police last night seized two buses loaded with arms and ammunition. A Ministry of Interior communiqué today said the police had arrested "several men" at the same time. Strict secrecy was maintained on the identity of those arrested.

Kingston Is Asked To Take Children During Vacations

Kingston has been asked to provide accommodations for New York City children from July 6 to 20 as a part of the New York Herald Tribune's Fresh Air project, the Rev. Burton F. Tarr told members of the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon.

He explained that this city has been requested to become one of the "Friendly Town" group, which will care for several children who could not otherwise enjoy vacations out of the city of New York after the quota for the regular fresh air camps has been filled.

Under the recommended procedure, Kingston residents who are able to do so would be asked to invite one or more children into their homes for the assigned period.

To place the plan before the citizens of Kingston, a committee will be formed. The Rev. Mr. Tarr has accepted the chairman's position. The remainder of the committee members will be chosen from various groups in the city. It will be entirely non-sectarian and present plans call for the formation of a nucleus of a representative of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish clergy, the Boy Scouts of America, a judge, and representatives of the various service organizations.

In speaking before Kiwanis Thursday, the Rev. Mr. Tarr asked for endorsement of the "Friendly Town" project by that club and asked that Kiwanis name a member to the committee. President Harry Rigby, Jr., assured him that the project will be given careful consideration.

The children who would be sent here will range in age from six to 12 years and will be of all creeds and races. They will be given a complete physical examination before leaving New York, and while vacationing here will be completely covered by insurance, "so the people will have no worries on that score," the Rev. Mr. Tarr said.

Captain George Gibb of the Salvation Army also spoke during the Kiwanis Club program Thursday noon at the Governor Clinton Hotel. He told of the many interesting parts of the work of the Salvation Army.

Among his observations during the past year, Capt. Gibb said he noticed with alarm that the local corps has already assisted twice as many transient cases this year than it did last year. This indicates, he said, that the "dishwashing jobs" which are the standby of transients are now being filled by local men and that jobs are becoming harder to find.

ROSENDALE NEWS

Area Education Group Elected

Rosendale, June 1—School trustees and directors of the first supervisory district of Ulster County convened on Thursday evening at the court house, Kingston, with District Superintendent Clarence Johnson presiding. Arthur Wirth was delegated to act as temporary chairman. The purpose was to form a board of cooperative services of the first supervisory district, the charter having been granted by Commissioner T. Spaulding of Albany. In accordance with the requirements of the charter, a five-man board was elected, composed of: Daniel Morehouse, Lake Katrine, five years; Arthur Wirth, Tilton, four years; Charles Tiano, Flatbush, three years; Mrs. Paul Kruger, Saugerties, two years; and R. Cunningham of Hurley, one year. Arthur Wirth was elected to serve as chairman of the board.

This group of five will be known as the Board of Education of the Cooperative Services Board of the first supervisory district of Ulster. The executive officer will be District Superintendent Clarence Johnson of Saugerties. A central office will be established, probably in Kingston, with a clerk on duty.

The formation of the board was made on recommendation of the State Department of Education. It will provide improved conditions for the teaching staffs, and added benefits for the pupils in dental hygiene, physical education director, visiting nurse and others, all on a cooperative basis. There will be teaching supervisors to promote the latest and best methods in teaching the various subjects. It will unify teaching methods and coordinate the work throughout the district, and eventually throughout the state, so that a pupil moving from one locality to another would continue with the same text books and teaching methods.

The first meeting of the Board will be held on Thursday evening, June 9, at the court house at which time applications for teachers and a clerk will be considered, and the actual operations of the cooperative services laid one.

The meeting was well attended by trustees from practically all the areas in the district. Those present from the area of Rosendale were Ferdinand Fiedler, Rosendale village; Arthur Wirth, Tilton; and Earl Mack, acting for Mrs. Mary Mack, trustee of the Whiteport school. Creek Locks, Maple Hill and Cottlekill schools, while not represented at the meeting, had previously subscribed to the co-operative services plan. There are now approximately 15 co-operative service boards functioning satisfactorily in New York state, with additional ones in the process of formation.

Village Notes

Rosendale, June 1—Rosendale village board met Friday evening, June 3, at 8 p. m. in Vaughn's Pharmacy on Main street.

The Rosendale Sportsmen's Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Tilton fire house at 8 p. m.

Motor Manners

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

DRINK AND DRIVING

Q. Is it proper to drive after just one or two little drinks?

A. Not half enough emphasis is laid on preventing exhilaration, though far from drunken drivers from operating their cars. Their condition may cause them to take chances they would not think of taking when they have had nothing to drink. Can they adequately meet the many sudden traffic emergencies that arise? It is unnecessary to emphasize the menace of drunken drivers; certainly there is nothing to be said in their defense nor would good citizens want them to escape the full penalty of the law.

Drunk drivers are the high way's deadliest menace. Drunk driving is heinous crime, but what many persons fail to realize is that the driver who may be classified as exhilarated also can be guilty of grave offenses. Nobody is immune to the effect of alcohol. Why then will any sane person drive while thus handicapped? It is a social obligation to keep inebriated persons out of the driver's seat.

RUDE DRIVERS

Q. Are rude drivers always rude persons elsewhere?

A. The point to be made—because so hard to understand—is that rude drivers often are under other circumstances, perfectly well-behaved people. The man who tries to force his way ahead in a line of cars often would not think of trying to force himself ahead of others in a box office queue nor would he shove a fellow pedestrian off a sidewalk. If he accidentally did such a thing he probably would be mortified by his own rudeness. But, in his car, he is quite likely to swear roundly at his victim for getting in his way. Genuine manners are part of every gentleman—and lady—and are not removable.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

Ability, Not Luck, Usually Wins Out

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

Amateur's Card Authority

Written for NEA Service

Bridge players will tell you that the game of bridge is not based on luck, but on science. However, Donald Richards, the young baritone, believes that luck does play a part in life.

He got his start in singing because an agency called him up one day, thinking he was somebody else. To this day Donald does not know who they thought he was—but they told him they had him booked for six weeks at the Hollywood Beach Hotel in Florida for $175. It was not until he was on the train that he learned it was $175 a week.

Upon his arrival at the hotel, he handed the orchestra leader four songs. "Where are your orchestras?" he was asked. Donald looked bewildered, but luck stayed with him. "Go to bed, Donald," said the orchestra leader. "If anyone wants you, you have laryngitis tonight." By working all night, the director had music prepared for Donald the next

Filipino Lover May Have Caused Plane to Explode

Manila, June 3 (AP)—Officials theorized today that a Filipino lover crashed his rival by hiring three men to blow up a plane. The craft vanished May 7 with 13 persons aboard. Two of the passengers were Americans.

A dispatch from Daet, takeoff point of the flight, said an ex-convict and a youth with a police record had admitted planting a time bomb aboard the Philippines Air Lines plane.

National Bureau of Investigation agents said they believed a Filipino hired the two and a third man still at large to blow up the plane. They said the plane carried the husband of the woman he loved.

The agents said the evidence had been turned over to the prosecutor at Daet. No formal complaints have been filed.

This is the story the agents told: The two Filipinos said they were paid $92.50 by the lover to get the bomb aboard the plane the husband was to take to Manila.

The escaped convict took a box to the air lines office and had it weighed and tagged. On the way to the airport, the second Filipino switched the tags to another box. This box was placed aboard the plane.

Agents said the bomb was set to go off 30 minutes after the plane left Daet, 140 miles east of Manila, in perfect weather. A short time later all contact with it was lost.

Air line officials in Manila were puzzled. They said the plane was in good trim and was manned by experienced pilots.

Three days later, fishermen near Alabat Island, 70 miles east of Manila, reported they had seen an explosion in the air on May 7. On May 13, the pilots' body and wreckage was washed ashore. The wreckage showed unmistakable signs of an explosion.

Police immediately went looking for a man who put a 45-pound box, supposedly containing fish, aboard the plane at Daet.

There were nine passengers and among the passengers, besides the Americans, were two white Russian refugees from China. The Americans were Ludwig J. Sundeen, 48, Litchfield, Minn., and Robert Parker, 27, Rochester, N. Y.

The accident occurred north of nearby Vestal. The car mowed down nine concrete guard rails, struck a bridge abutment and skidded down a slight embankment.

Coroner S. Easton McManis, who gave a verdict of accidental death, described the accident as the worst he had ever investigated.

Endicott, N. Y., June 3 (AP)—Holland B. Blinn, 22, a junior at Triple Cities College here, was killed early Thursday when his automobile overturned and slid 388 feet through bushes and grass off Route 28.

Blinn, son of Mrs. William McCurry (374 First St.), Newburgh and E. Dwight Blinn, Pittsburgh, Pa., was to have joined his wife, Jean, mother-to-be, at Newburgh next week. Blinn was a navy veteran.

President 'Pickers' Predict Victory

Washington, June 3 (AP)—The Democrats play the Republicans tonight in their annual congressional baseball game.

And experts—the same ones who said that Dewey would be our next president—predict a first class, well played contest.

The Democrats won last year, by an estimated 24-11. They would be favored to repeat, except that Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga.) has been feeling poorly.

Wheeler is a good pitcher by congressional standards. In fact, he was about the only pitcher in either team who could get the ball over last year.

So if Chief Justice Vinson shows any control on his opening pitch, he's liable to have steady work on the mound.

The Republican situation is somewhat vague, Rep. Bishop (R-Ill.), a former tailor, coal miner, telephone lineman and pro baseball player, manages the Republicans. And he craftily has refused to give any hint of his starting pitcher, if any.

Bishop, by the way, is a remarkable example of durability. He'll open at second base for the Republicans. On June 29, Bishop will be 59 years old.

Some of the congressmen have proved to be surprisingly spry. R. P. Case (R-S.D.) runs after dropped fly balls like a startled rabbit. It should be explained that in congressional games fly balls are rarely caught.

Rep. Rivers (D-S.C.), takes a nice cut at the ball. Hits it, too, sometimes. And Rep. Harris (D-Ark.), in addition to his chores of Democratic manager, also is a pretty fair country catcher.

In case you wonder why your congressman is cavorting around this way, there's a good reason. The game is sponsored by the Washington Evening Star, and the proceeds go to underprivileged children.
